Learn How to Communicate with Animals

- Learn how animals come into our lives to help us heal old wounds, shift our awareness and live from a more authentic place
- This experiential, body-centered program incorporates group exercises to begin opening communication pathways
- Learn how to begin to let go of limiting beliefs about how your own thoughts hold you separate from receiving communication with your animal friend

This program offers participants a chance to experience a animal communication exercises, an opportunity to share their feelings about their animals and will leave this program with an understanding of the process of how to communicate with animals.

Working with Susan was an amazing experience. Senna responded to Susan immediately and became very calm, even around my young, energetic niece. With Susan's leadership, I realized that I need to deal with Senna first in order for her to be well-mannered during a family get-together. It takes work, but with some direction and consistency, I am becoming the pack leader!" Taite, Meetings and Events Planner, and Senna, her Schnauzer mix

As a first-time dog owner I was unsure as how to handle my 4 month old Pit-Bull terrier, Baby. My two young sons were already terrified of her and I was afraid that she was getting out of control. Susan taught me how to shift her behavior through consistent exercise and discipline. Now my family is no longer afraid and actually knows what to do to get her to be calm!"
